The Tornado

(Associated Press)

TROY, Ala., Oct. 27—With their dead buried, thoughts of the people of the south-central portion of Alabama which was hit Sunday by a tornado, claiming a toll of 17 lives were turning to the relief of the injured and sufferers, who lost all they owned in the twister.

An emergency fund of $3,100 had been collected here and was immediately available, and Mayor John Gamble, heading relief work, was pushing the subscription list still further. Word was received late yesterday that additional relief funds were being provided by the American Red Cross from Washington.

The injured in local hospitals, were reported improving. Among them are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knight, who lost their four children in the storm. Mrs. Knight also lost a sister.

The four Knight children, Ralph, Ruby, Frances and Mary Ellen, and Mrs. Eliza Davis, their aunt, were laid to rest yesterday afternoon in Good Hope cemetery, about six miles from Troy.

Hard by, in a neighboring cemetery the remains of the negro victims also, were buried.

ASHVILLE IS QUIET

AFTER MOB GESTURE

Negro Assailant Now Safe In Jail At Neighbor City

(Associated Press)

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 27—Asheville was quiet today, following yesterday's mob demonstration, the second within five weeks. Preston Neely, 23, arrested yesterday and identified by a woman as the negro who attacked her last Thursday, was reported safe in jail somewhere east of Asheville, where officers rushed him last night, after evading a mob.

Leroy Reeves, ex-convict whose life officers believe, was saved last night when they refused to allow his accuser to identify the negro in jail, was tried in police court this morning and given a two year sentence on charges of annoying a woman.

Feeling ran high following the arrest of Neely and the Reeves arrest, a short time later, served to fan the flames. Neely was taken in custody after he had been spied in a store by the victim of his attack.

A few minutes later he was placed in an automobile and whisked away by officers.

All night rumors flew that Neely had been taken from his custodian by a mob, but Sheriff Mitchell scoffed at the idea this morning, saying he had been assured by his officers that the negro was safe in jail.

27 Saved in Mid-Atlantic Storm

Based on radioed information, this is how the President Harding, fighting its way through the storm to the side of the foundering freighter Ignazio, poured tons of oil on the troubled waters, shot breeches buoys across the doomed ship and rescued twenty-seven men and the ship's cat just before the craft foundered. Capt. Paul C. Grening, hero of the most thrilling rescue of recent years, is a World War veteran.

TO BRIDGE PLANS

Formal Action Taken
By War Department
For Structure

Formal approval of the war department to the plans of the Alabama state highway commission for a bridge across the Tennessee river at Albany-Decatur, which structure now is in course of construction, was given Tuesday afternoon.

The following Associated Press dispatch was received Tuesday afternoon from Washington: "Washington, Oct. 27—Approval by Secretary Davis of the plan of the Alabama highway commission for a bridge across the Tennessee river at Decatur was announced today at the war department."

While it was considered a foregone conclusion many weeks ago that the government was entirely in sympathy with the plan for the project here, and as a matter of fact work already has started on the project, leaders of the bridge movement today were pleased that there had been no hitch in the final approval of the specifications for the structure.

SEEK HOME
FOR YOUTH

Any kindly disposed citizens of Albany-Decatur who will provide a home for a 13 year old boy, today was urged to get in communication at once with the Salvation Army.

Last night a friend brought to the Army home a blue eyed youth, explaining that the mother of the boy was dead and that his father recently has gone away. The boy, Army officials said, is rather large for his age, but has been to school only about one month.

Army officials expressed the hope that someone here would be found who would give the child a home, with a view to adoption.

Anyone interested was asked to communicate with Army headquarters at 1206 Third avenue South.

WALTER CLOPTON
IS KIWANIS CHOICE

Local Man Is Elected
Lieut.-Governor
For District

(Associated Press)

SELMA, Ala., Oct. 27—Erskine Ramsey, of Birmingham and for the past year lieutenant governor of the second division of Kiwanis clubs, was selected district governor to succeed Colonel H. Frank Williamson, at the close of the morning session of the Kiwanis convention.

Lieutenant governors elected were: first division, Walter CLOPTON, Albany-Decatur; second division, Ernest Lacey of Jasper; third division, E. Brice Robinson, Talladega; fourth division, Judge S. F. Hobbs, Selma; fifth division, John Rich, Dothan.

General William L. Sibert's address to the convention here this morning on the subject of the Mobile port and Alabama's future was the outstanding feature on the program.

General Sibert said the greatest difficulty ahead was to arouse the people of the state to understand that they are on the threshold of immense industrial development and that they must prepare for it and assist its coming.

A thorough program of industrial research, he said, must precede a successful realization of the potential resources of the state. He declared the modern dock facilities, being constructed at Mobile, belong to the state of Alabama, but that geographically a large section of the country should export and import through the port.

All of the preliminary difficulties such as securing the proper sites and the removal of topographical obstacles, have now been completed. He said that while the Mobile gateway to the sea would be utilized for the export of Birmingham steel and iron that more than one type of commerce would be needed to bring the port up to its maximum of service and financial success.

He declared the port must be expanded and enlarged with a view to meeting the commercial needs of this section fifty years hence.

To Many Sections Of
The South

The industrial life of the Twin Cities was further expanded today with announcement that the Decatur Mill and Elevator company has begun the mixing of chicken feeds and soon will begin the mixing of dairy feeds. While the new departments of this already well known concern will be started in a comparatively small way, they add another industry to the list already here and the officials of the company plan to expand the new departments as rapidly as the market warrants.

The company is installing mixing and blending machinery and already has started mixing chicken feed, two grades being placed on the market one containing higher priced grains than the other. One grade will be known as "Gypsy" scratch feed, while the other grade will be marketed as "number one" scratch feed. The feeds will be the standard 24 per cent.

The mixing of dairy feeds will be started probably in about one week.

The mill, for sometime has been marketing "Gypsy Maid" meal and has found a ready market in this section, as well as in South Alabama and Mississippi.

The company plans, in the manufacture of chicken and dairy feed, to use only the best ingredients, mixed according to recognized formulas and it is believed that the new products will find as ready response from buyers, as the meal product has.

The Decatur Mill and Elevator company, beginning business about two years ago, has grown rapidly and continued success and expansion is predicted for the company.

BIRMINGHAM MEET

Commemorate Birth Of

P. Session

(Associated Press)

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 27—The south of all sections needs benefit from the protective tariff, and can never permanently prosper without it, declared Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record in a letter to Robert E. Noble, which was today read before the southern states republican league here.

Mr. Edmonds urged protection as an economic measure and declared that it should not be considered as either a republican or democratic doctrine, but one upon which must be founded our national prosperity.

Mr. Edmonds characterized himself as a democrat "who believes in a protective tariff with all his heart and soul," and as one who believes that, "only through a protective tariff can the South ever gain its full freedom in the utilization of its potentialities."

He said that he looks forward to the time when other southern men who believe in a protective tariff will dare to publicly proclaim their belief in its vital importance in the welfare of the section.

BIRMINGHAM, Oct. 27—Commemorating the birth of Theodore Roosevelt, the Southern republican league in first annual session here, today, launched the first concerted movement ever attempted to break sectional one party government. Along broad lines the convention, whose members come from that great tier of states from Arizona to Virginia, set out "To protect."

MR. RATHBONE, vice chairman of the National Surety company, says "It's a $2,000,000,000 crime wave." Insurance companies are refusing insurance against theft, won't insure fur stores or certain lines of jewelry at all.

Vigilance committees are suggested for big cities. Three bootleggers killed each other in New York yesterday. And that happens often. But there are always two live bootleggers to take the place of a dead one.

FRANK HAGUE is Mayor of Jersey City, and any city that lacks "action" in its affairs ought to hire for Mayor a brother or sister of Frank Hague.

Cyrus H. K. Curtis, is disturbed by Mayor Hague, who manages New Jersey's democratic party, elects democratic governors and senators in place of customary republicans.

Having "investigated" Frank Hague, Mr. Curtis' writer finds nothing against him, but doesn't approve of the mayor's "grammar."

This writer can testify that the mayor's grammar is at least as good as the average, and one sample is recommended to mayors in general.

DURING a coal strike families in Jersey City were unable to get coal, although it was piled up in Jersey City yards for New York's use. The mayor put his police at the ferries with orders "not to allow a load of coal to go to New York until we have all we want for the people in Jersey City."

One of New York's high financial powers asked by what right Mayor Hague acted in so rude a manner. Mayor Hague replied: "by the right of the end of a night stick. Come on over and let's see what you are going to do about it."

THAT "grammar" suited the people of Jersey City. They got coal. And in a few days mayor Hague will elect a democratic governor of New Jersey, further demonstrating

Automobile Strikes 2
Youngsters Here
During Morning

John Felix White, aged nine years and little Ned Frazier were hurt this morning when they were struck by an automobile, said to have been driven by A. Polytinsky. The accident occurred at the intersection of Canal and Walnut street.

John White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. White was the more severely hurt. His father, who is cashier of the Tennessee Valley bank, stated however that, after a medical examination, it was not believed that he was seriously injured. The child was knocked unconscious, but it was not thought any bones were broken.

Mr. White absolved from blame the driver of the car, stating that the youngsters apparently had been skating and had pulled in behind a wagon later swinging from behind the vehicle, into the street and in front of the approaching car, which they did not see.

The accident created much excitement at the time and the many friends of the families hope that the injuries will not prove serious.

Three Day Coaches Tangled Mass Of Wreckage

(Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 27—Twenty dead and more than 30 injured is the known total taken when the Sunnyland, fast St. Louis and San Francisco passenger train, left the rails today near Victoria, Miss., and tumbled into a tangled mass down a 40-foot embankment.

At least 20 persons were killed outright or died before a relief train could reach the scene and possibly twice that number were injured.

The train travelling at about 50 or 60 miles an hour apparently spread the tracks about 300 yards from the station and about 200 feet from a 400-foot trestle.

The engine cleared the trestle, as did the first baggage car. The engine did not leave the track. Three baggage coaches and nine day coaches and pullman made up the train.

All of the coaches, except the last pullman, rolled down the 40 foot embankment.

A partial list of the dead, gathered from several sources, include:

J. W. Ryan, conductor of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Jordan, Carrollton, Ga.; Fay Jordan, 8, of Ninekan, Okla.; John M. Jordan of Ninekan, Okla.; and Miss Ollie Webster of Oxford, Miss.; Dr. H. D. Hathorn, J. S. Thompson of Tupelo, Miss.; J. Burrett, news agent; Floyd Wagner, of Tupelo, Miss.

The three day coaches were a tangled mass of wreckage. One of them dived headlong into the clay bank by the side of the track and the others rolled and jammed as they struck the bottom, piling the occupants into the tops and ends of the cars.

Few of the passengers, sleeping in the last three pullman cars suffered serious injury, and it was these who directed the rescue and first aid work before relief trains arrived.

The Heroine of, "Bobbed Hair," is an average American girl, you're going to like her

Two days from today, Thursday, October 29, The Daily is beginning the best serial story obtained through the year when the intriguing story of love, romance and woman's problems, "Bobbed Hair" is starting. Have you subscribed for The Daily, have you called Albany 46 and asked for The Daily to be delivered to your residence? It is not too late to get in at the start of the story and enjoy the whole story with the thousands of other Daily readers.

Connemara Moore, the heroine of the story, who is perplexed from the beginning, knowing that if she bobs her hair she will lose the love of a devotee and realizing that if she does not bob her hair that she will lose the love of another ardent admirer, is no different from any other every-day American girl. You see her riding about the streets of your cities every day, she brushes against you at the shopping counters, talks with you at entertainments, sits next to you at the movies. Just an average American girl, with perhaps a little more zest for adventure and a constant thrill hunter. That is the red-headed heroine of the story. Her story, we will admit, is out of the ordinary, a theme that does not center the lives of every girl, but then if all life, was the same we would soon tire.

The Daily is anxious to have the greatest list of readers ever recorded locally in this special drive, we feel that if you will start the story that you will not wish to miss the paper and for that reason we direct you to call Albany 46 at once so that the paper may be started before the opening date of the story. Get the boy in the habit of leaving your paper on your doorstep now and you will not miss a single issue containing this delightful story.

Remember the story is written by twenty famous American authors for American people and about folks you know. We freely predict that the readers will like this story a great deal better than any other serial which has appeared in The Daily through this year. Subscribe now and enjoy the story with your neighbors.

12 Years Ago TODAY

From The Daily of October 27, 1913

Charles Henderson, of Troy, president of the state railroad commission, and candidate for governor, is in the Decatur today, to hear any complaints which local citizens may have to make against public utilities.

Elowah, Tenn., won first place in the inter-city membership campaign for the Y. M. C. A. The local association finished first.

Federal court officials, enroute to Huntsville,
passed through here last night.

Mrs. W. N. Hall will be hostess to the Woman's Literary club Tuesday.

Dr. G. R. Sullivan is ill at his home on Johnston street.

Osborne Wood is another illustration of the Salvation
Army slogan, "A man may be down, but never out."

There was one consolation of muddy roads. There were not as many fatal accidents on them.

Look before you drive over a railroad crossing. It may be your last opportunity for observation.

What's in a name, but Judge Schollar, of Franklin,
Indiana, is a starter at the Opelika fair races.

Well, it seems we have more cotton, even if the price is down.

A lone bandit held up a Tennessee bank. He will find plenty of company when he begins to spend the loot.

If the League of Nations has been able to prevent another Balkan slaughter, who is there to say it has not been worthwhile?

Now a Cleveland, Ohio, woman announces holding a perfect Mah Jongg hand. By the way, what happened to the Chinese game which was going to disrupt the morals of America?

The Daily does not know what the Age-Herald is attempting to accomplish, but the Birmingham paper certainly is sticking not on the trail of Governor Brandon and Highway Commission Chairman Rogers.

Add to those healthy indications of prosperity, the prediction of Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, that the industry is on the eve of a great era of prosperity.

Youth must be served. Wambsgrans, a few seasons ago one of the world's greatest baseball stars, and the man who completed a triple play, unassisted, in a world's series, now passes by the waiver route to the minors.
None of the major clubs wanted his services.

The Opelika Daily News states that it is making an honest study of road construction with the aim of gathering such material as may be of benefit to the voter. It is a laudable ambition, but one cannot help feeling that The News has mapped out a heavy program of work for itself, if it intends to learn the fine points about engineering while endeavoring to conduct a daily newspaper.

North Alabama Methodists leave Tuesday evening for annual conference at Huntsville. Our Methodist ministers may or may not be returned here, but whatever duty they may be given to perform that will do so well and willingly. They have demonstrated so much since being sent to these cities. We hope that they may all be returned, that they might continue the splendid work which they have started within our cities. Religious work is the finest accomplishment which may be given to a city,
they have done their share here.

THE RED CROSS AGAIN COMES TO RESCUE OF A STRICKEN PEOPLE

With the date of the annual Red Cross roll call near, Alabamians witnessed with interest the rapidity with which the Red Cross moved to extend aid to the stricken sections of Pike, Barbour and Crenshaw counties. As usual this great humanitarian organization began rushing food, clothing and temporary shelter into the storm-devastated area as soon as the first reports were made of the disaster.

So many times has the Red Cross been called upon to render relief, following some great disaster, there are many who wonder how America could get along without the organization. The public has come to depend on Red Cross aid when misfortune enfolds an individual or a section. The Red Cross has well organized facilities for extending this help and there is every reason to be prepared to give the enrollment week movement wholehearted support, when the time period arrives.

REWARD AWAITS DISCOVERER OF WAY TO MAKE AUTOMOBILE SAFE

Hardly more than fifteen years ago, Americans celebrated Independence Day with a flare which left a heavy toll of dead and dying in its wake. No one had ever heard of a "safe and sane Fourth." There were those who knew that life was being endangered needlessly, but no concerted effort was made to prevent this human destruction for many years.

The story is told that one of the editors of a Chicago newspaper, late one Fourth of July was so impressed with the mounting toll of maimed and mangled, that he got in touch with his office and instructed his editorial staff to collect, from every section of the country, an account of all the Fourth of July accidents, if possible.
The newspaper could not, in that space of time, obtain news of every accident, but it did obtain stories of so many of them that, when published under one group the following morning, they startled the nation.

As a result of that action, which was continued for several years, there grew the "safe and sane" movement for observance of this great holiday.

The Daily has wondered often why some of the great metropolitan newspapers, with their almost limitless facilities for gathering news, does not apply the same idea to the matter of automobile accidents. The situation is becoming worse every week. Death or injury beset the motorist on every hand.

A rich reward and everlasting fame awaits the discoverer of some method to make automobilism safe for the driver who wants to be safe. There never will be any way found to protect those who will not protect themselves.

REPUBLICANS OF THE SOUTH MEET IN BIRMINGHAM FOR CONFERENCE

Many democratic voters will not agree with The Daily, but to this newspaper there is much promise in the meeting of Republicans in Birmingham this week. The Daily trusts that the Democrats will continue to control the political machinery of this section. There are many reasons for this hope. The Daily is democratic and a believer in democratic principles, but there is no reason to blind our eyes to the fact that if there was a stronger republican organization in the South, it would be vastly easier for the South to obtain many things it desires from the national government.

The South, unfortunately, for its material prosperity, too frequently is neglected by the democrats, because the party realizes that there is no especial need to cater to Dixie. The republicans, feeling they have nothing to lose by failure to accord the South the recognition it might deserve, naturally try to pass their plums about where they will accomplish the greatest political benefits.

The Southern organization of republicans long has been recognized as more of an association of office holders and office seekers than anything else. The new association, recently formed in Memphis, and now holding its first session in Birmingham, promises to be very much more than that.

The association officials declare its members will meet to discuss, not only the political destinies of the section, but the material problems of the area, waterways, flood control, crop aid, and the scores of other questions which so vitally affect the South.

Even as a good democrat, The Daily feels like imitating a school boy and throwing its voice as far as possible, shouting: "Atta Boy."

Political parties in other regions seek to obtain for those regions something more than a few persons elected to office. It is high time the democrats and republicans, alike, in the South followed their example.

KAISER COMES TO LIFE LONG ENOUGH TO START ARGUMENT WITH SEN. BORAH

After some years of comparative quietude, the ex-Kaiser comes to life long enough to engage in an argument, something of a habit of Wilhelm's. This time, however, the debate is with a United States Senator, one Borah, generally thought of as an admirer of the deposed German ruler.

The argument involves foreign relations of nations and the effect of these relations on the color peril. The charges and counter charges, however, as the Tennesseean points out, create "such a medley of conflicting theories and opinions as to make it difficult to form any conclusions as to the merits of the subject under discussion."

The Tennesseean continues:

The past performances of the one-time Kaiser have been such that it is difficult to conceive of one's siding with him in an argument with an American senator, but there will be many who will feel that the Hohenzollern has the better of this argument so far.

The controversy was precipitated by an interview given out by Mr. Borah some time ago in which he stated that in dealing with China we should treat
the Chinese nation on a basis of equality, and that the international assumption that China is an inferior nation is an assumption that can no longer obtain. Upon reading this interview the ex-kaiser volunteered a reply in which he stated that "the principle of race equality promulgated by Senator Borah
threatens the white race" and that the enunciation of that principle would result in the Senator's being hailed as the champion of all colored peoples and the friend of the Moscow Third International. He somewhat weakened his argument by urging that the United States, France and Great Britain should avert
the threatened rising tide of color by re-arming Germany.

In answering this answer Mr. Borah amplifies his former statements and alleges that the peril that threatens the white race today is not the yellow or brown race, but the oppressive and imperialistic attitude of the white race towards these races. Not satisfied with this inflammatory statement, he winds up by saying "We must either treat these people justly, fairly and as equals, or we shall have to fight them."

That is an astonishing statement to emanate from any man who poses as possessing the qualities of statesmanship. There is, to be sure no objection to the policy of treating any and all people, regardless of race or color, with justice and fairness; but the term "equality" is a vastly inclusive one, and one which a large proportion of the white people have no idea of admitting to apply between them and the colored peoples for whom Senator Borah assumes to speak. Nor is there any logical basis for Mr. Borah's assumption that, in lieu of the admission of equality, the only alternative is to fight them. There is no reason why the white race and the colored races should not continue to live on the same planet without fighting each other. They have lived here for several centuries without indulging in any such conflict of color; and, despite the mouthings of such alarmists as Mr. Borah, they can doubtless continue to dwell together in harmony, without any relinquishment of the white man's inherent sense of superiority.

JUDGE GARY, as conservative
as the Ten Commandments, promises magnificently greater prosperity. Chicago is building, growing as never before. In a thousand places
there are a thousand booms.

CONSIDER that spot taken so much for granted, New York City.
Ask a citizen 1,000 miles from New York what he knows about "Queens" or "The Bronx." He will know little or nothing.

BUT Queens and The Bronx, little boroughs tucked away in Greater New York are each one bigger in population than Los Angeles.

And the yearly increase in New York's population is more than three times the total population of marvelous Miami. Don't forget
New York is adding up Uncle
Sam's valuable assets.

AND consider Henry Ford, another asset. His output of cars is now 7,500 a day and by November 1 his factories expect to go on a 9,000 basis.

IF Ford only made a profit of $50 a car on the 9,000 cars, his net income would be $450,000 a day.
Enough to support any family of three.

THE "saturation point" in the automobile industry is still remote.
In September 5,000 more automobiles were made than in August.
Production and sales are increasing.
There will be no "saturation point" for a long while. The public can use and ought to have at least three times as many automobiles as are now running. A man without an automobile is like a bird without wings, a wagon without wheels.
Buy a car, but don't gamble in motor stocks or anything else—

you'll be sorry.

A POOR GIRL in Boston commits suicide because she could not get winter finery. And libraries in London say that modern young girls with hair and skirts bobbed still demand love stories, as did former generations of girls with hair and skirts long.

They want moonlight scenes and big strong, silent men as lovers.

AFTER they get such a man, he usually starts talking about himself and never stops. But that doesn't discourage them.

As long as canaries eat birdseed women, bobbed or unbobbed, will want love stories. That proves nature's wisdom. She knows the work that young women have to do.

MACARIO PERLAS is dead at Manila, aged 152 years and 1 month according to church records. He was born in July, 1773, three years before the Declaration of Independence was written, and he lived to know the grand children of his own grandchildren. It was a wonderful age, but many have lived more in one hour than Macario Perlas lived in his 152 years.

ROMANCE is fading from the world. No more sea serpents, no mermaids. Sailors don't even pretend to see them. No more roc's eggs; and now, alas, no howling and whirling priests of Holy Islam.

KEMAL PASHA, champion image breaker, took veils from the faces of Turkish women, the fez
from the heads of Turkish men.
Now he closes Turkish monasteries, where 20,000 Turkish monks and dervishes spent their lives, divided into "howling," "whirling" and
"whispering" monks.

Kemal Pasha has had them all go to work and stop howling, whirling and whispering.

THAT'S sad. They were so picturesque as they stood, each on his right foot, swinging the body and left leg from side to side, repeating: "There is no God but Allah."

Kemal doesn't seem worried about Allah's attitude in the matter.

ON TUESDAY there will be celebrated the passing of a resolution in congress authorizing merchant ships to be refitted as men of war.
It will be the one hundred and fiftieth birthday of our navy.

It is a good time for congress
to think about the navy again, especially about the real navy in the air.

WE CHANGED from sailing vessels of wood to steamships of iron although wise men in the navy said
it was preposterous and couldn't be done.

President Coolidge who is not hampered by tradition, combining information with imagination, will perhaps make the navy realize that it must change now from iron ships on the water to flying ships in the air.

THOUGHTS

OF THE WEEK

By J. A. West

INGRATITUDE

Ingratitude is everywhere, and when it raises its poisoned dagger it cuts to the quick, and causes wounds which are hard to heal. Faithfulness is often rewarded by ingratitude, and as it drags its slimy coil across the path of those who have been its greatest benefactors, it leaves a scar in the heart which will be carried to the grave.

Men have stood loyally by the object of their affection, when it requires something more than bravery to maintain the position. There are instances where all the wealth one possessed has been placed at the disposal of another, shielding and helping such a one over a mountain of difficulty, only to be rewarded with basest ingratitude, and when free,
went the road of least resistance, never remembering the friend who was the one who stood in the breach and made seemingly impossible things possible.

Often a lifetime of service receives
as its reward nothing but ingratitude.
And as its chilly fingers grip the heart it almost strangles its pulsations and the one who has given this service so freely, has no consolation
save only the fact of the conscious knowledge that they have acted from pure motives and have given the best there was in them.

It is often the case, (too often) that our friends die and are buried away from our sight, then we realize too late that we failed to show our gratitude for services, and the remorse of conscience comes in full portion.

Those who have had conceptions,
loyalty ideals of something and put it into effect, only to be jeered by the mob, have had towering shafts erected to their memory by the same mob who jeered, after a lapse of time when their reason returned, but alas, too late; they fail to cast any fragrance backward over a weary life, for ears are sealed and cannot hear the plaudits intended for them.

do your boy's clothing bills keep you "scratching"?

We haven't a thing to say against long trousers for boys. We sell them—we can fit any boy from the little tots up.

But a suit with two long trousers naturally costs more than a suit of the same quality with two short trousers.

Many parents prefer to buy their boys knicker suits
for economy, if for no other reason.

And many boys prefer knicker suits, especially for everyday wear, because they're so much easier to keep in presentable shape.

WESTMINSTER MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

One of the most interesting meetings of the year of the Westminster Presbyterian church was held on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. R. Johnson on Johnston street.

India was the subject for the discussion and each member gave an item of interest about the country, the customs of the people or of some missionary there. Mrs. E. C. Payne was the leader.

NIGHT CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Peden opened their hospitable home on Saturday evening to the members of the Night Club. Mrs. Sara Jeffries and Dr. Hamilton were the substituting guests on this occasion.

Bridge was played during the early part of the evening and later a delicious salad course was served. At the game, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Jeffries and Dr. Perolio they having made high scores.

PARTY FOR MRS. ROBINSON

Mrs. A. Perolio entertained a few friends at bridge on Saturday afternoon complimenting Mrs. F. M. Robertson who will leave soon to make her home in Florida.

MRS. PEDEN TO ENTERTAIN

Mrs. F. M. Robertson who will leave about the first of November to join Mr. Robertson and make their home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., will be the guest of honor at a bridge party on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Peden will entertain.

Mrs. T. T. Roberts has returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. Jesse Chantz and other relatives at Birmingham.

Mrs. W. H. Thompson has returned home after a visit to Mrs. Claud Reynolds at Clanton, and Mrs. Jesse Chantz at Birmingham.

Len Murphy has returned from a visit to Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Elam, of Hartselle visited Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sharpley over Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Utter has returned from a few days visit to friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. F. M. Robertson suffered a broken finger on Saturday afternoon when an auto door was closed on the member.

Mrs. F. M. Schiller has received a letter from Mr. Schiller who has been very ill in Paris, France, for the past four weeks, in which he said that he was improving and would probably be able to sail for the United States in about ten days.

Mrs. Marcia Bullard is visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Binford in Athens.

Little Miss Helen Rauschenberg is confined to her home this week suffering an eye infection.

Mrs. John Allison Harris of Leighton was the weekend guest of her sister Miss Sarah Lile.

Miss Lucy Emens of Leighton spent the weekend with her parents in Trinity.

Mrs. R. O. Marks of Shreveport, La., will arrive on Tuesday to spend a few days with her sister, Mrs. Eugene Rainey.

Mrs. Dave Harbin of Birmingham will arrive today to be the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Ben Rowe.

Mrs. W. H. Simpson is ill at her home on Jackson street.

Miss Louise Brennaugh is ill at her home on Oak street.

Miss Katherine Ballentine spent the weekend in Birmingham with friends, ham with friends.

Mrs. John Sandlin returned Sunday from Birmingham where she spent the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoekensmith are visiting friends in Little Rock, Ark., this week.

Unusual Player To Be Heard Tonight

Perhaps the most unusual feature of the program, being given tonight at Rencro under the auspices of the Westminster Presbyterian Missionary society will be the playing of Mr. Hayes who will be seen with the Hartselle orchestra. Mr. Hayes has been with the orchestra but a short while and is said to handle a piano in a most adept fashion, being blindfolded, using either one or two hand movements. The musicale tonight should prove enjoyable to many Twin City people.

NOTICE TO MASONS

There will be a called meeting of Rising Sun Lodge No. 29 A. F. and A. M. tonight at 7 o'clock for work in the M. M. degree. All Master Masons cordially invited.

THEATRES

A shop girl who has never had a good time in her young life, is Virginia Valli's latest role. The popular Universal star heads a well known cast of favorites with Norman Kerry in this production, "The Price of Pleasure," a Universal-Jewel, which has its first local showing at the Princess theater today.

"The Price of Pleasure" was written by Elizabeth Holding and Morion Orth, who are among the most famous of present day writers for screen production. Universal bought the story because of its particular fitness for Miss Valli and Kerry, and is said to have exercised special care in the selection of the supporting cast.

A strong vein of comedy runs throughout the story and this is interpreted for the most part by Louise Fazenda, but very much obsessed by zenda playing the part of the shop girl, friend of Miss Valli and Barnes is a janitor, much in love with Miss Fazenda, but very much obsessed by radio's mysteries.

Others in the supporting cast are

Kate Lester, George Fawcett, James O. Barrows and Marie Astaire. The picture was directed by Edward Sloan.

Excess And Carelessness Exhaust Women's Vitality

Nature's Simple Law of Supply and Demand on the Resources of the Human System is Overlooked by Many Girls and Women in the Rush Through Life.

Excessive indulgence in recreation, work or dissipation require an abundant supply of vitality to prevent exhaustion and ruin to your precious system, organs and body.

That is the reason so many women nowadays just haven't got strength and energy enough to do hardly anything which takes exertion, without being quickly tired out and having to give up.

Unless you are free from the malady which so many women are subject to, which drains the very life and vitality from every nerve, muscle and tissue, so your blood can carry nourishment to them as fast as your excesses take it away, you become weak, thin, nervous, irritable and depressed.

Those fits of despondency, 'out of humor,' and that morbid feeling that something awful is about to happen, are the surest signs that you must stop and think.

The introduction here only a few weeks ago of the phenomenal medicine known as St. Joseph's G. F. P., is proving the correctness of the theory of its discoverer that 90 per cent of so-called 'female disorders' are due almost directly to catarrh of the generative organs.

Thousands of women who had tried first one thing then another for years only to be disappointed in their attempts to revive their former strength and vitality, are giving the best evidence of this by their loud praises for the effectiveness of St. Joseph's G. F. P. in relieving them of their irregularity, nervousness, headaches, irritable disposition, despondent and morbid whimsical feeling, loss of weight, hot flashes, pains in the back and sides, and that dreadful tired-all-the-time feeling.

4,000 CITIZENS AID FOREST RESERVES

State Adopts Drive To End Forest Fire Scourge

(Associated Press)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Oct. 27.—A force of nearly four thousand citizens has supplemented the corps of forest rangers of Alabama in averting serious damage from forest fires this year, it is revealed in reports on file at the office of the state commission of forestry here. This force of citizens gave their efforts at no cost to the state.

The cooperation of citizens of the state is, of course, a great factor in keeping down forest fire damage. Col. Page S. Bunker, state forester, in commenting on the spirit displayed by citizens in helping to put down a common danger, said today that citizens at large are growing more alert to prevent and suppress forest fires.

To date, 18 forestry districts have been established in Alabama, while others are in the process of organization, said Col. Bunker. "Each district is patrolled by a state forest ranger whose duties include, among other things, the detection and suppression of forest fires. The efforts of a single man, however, cannot cope with the exceedingly dangerous conditions resulting from a long drought, and it is only with the willing aid of his friends and neighbors that large numbers of fires can be suppressed."

"In practically all of the districts, the community spirit is such that upon notice of a serious fire many citizens engage in suppression work whether the ranger is present or not. The situation is analogous to that arising from a break in a river levee or the burning of a home. No one stops to consider whether or not his particular property is threatened, but hastens to do what he can to avert damage to the community."

"Every forest fire is a little fire before it becomes a big fire. While they are small they can easily be extinguished. Hundreds of such small fires have been extinguished by volunteer workers. Each year there is an increasing realization of the damage done by fires that are allowed to spread, and the townspeople as well as the rural and woods residents are becoming more and more alert and aggressive in fire prevention and suppression."

Good Crop on Wasted Lands
The best crop on badly eroded, or washed land, is pine trees.
Plant a few seedlings on the edges of the washes, or scatter some seed so it will grow, and the growing timber will stop the washing.
More than that, the timber will pay you revenue in ten or fifteen years.

ALABAMA AMONG SHOOTING LEADERS

T. K. Lee Has a High Average With Hill Near Second

Alabama boasts of some of the finest shots in the south, if not the world. T. K. Lee, known throughout the trapshooting world as Tack Hole because he is also an expert shot with the rifle is having another excellent year at the traps. Last year he will be remembered that Tack won the Alabama State Championship with 189 breaks out of a possible 200 targets. This year he repeated. He also won the high average on single targets and will make a strong bid for these honors this year. Lee is leading all shooters with .9568 at this writing and we are sure that he will be no lower when the bell is rung in January. Walton Hill, who hails from Montgomery, giving Tack a close chase. Hill always gives a good account of himself at any shoot he visits.

In 1924, M. C. Tyler, Birmingham, was high average in the handicaps. This year he has even a higher average at the distant shooting and may again cop the laurels. Tyler ranks fourth in the singles race to date. D. Flynn, Mobile must be a steady shooter. In 1924 his final average on 1800 targets was .9505 this year at this time it is .9506 in 1500. He is sitting in third position. J. A. Blount fifth place was state handicap champion in 1924.

Alabama has always been considered one of the best trapshooting states in the south. Each year they send a worthy delegation to the Grand American Handicap. Last year T. K. Lee won the Permanent Home Introductory the first day of the Grand American. He broke 198 to tie for high gun in this event, and had to smash 99 in shoot off to win. He also won the A. A. Class championship with 198.

Alabama has held ten registered shoots this season, several more will be held between now and the end of the year. 150,000 targets were thrown at these shoots. The largest shoot held in the cotton state this year was the Southern Zone Tournament, 150 crack shots from all parts of America collected at Birmingham and spent one of the finest times ever spent at a trapshooting meet. Alabama boasts of 152 A. T. A. members, seventeen of this number being A. T. A. Life Members. R. H. Baugh, one of Birmingham's finest citizens is the President of the Alabama State Association, with Person Moor another well liked sportsman their State Delegate.

note and advance the economic, educational and cultural interests of the people as well as to teach that it is, "not less politic," but a more extended matter of politics, that the country needs today."

In his address, Charles U. Gordon, president, voiced the keynote of the meeting by declaring that the welfare and development of the nation demanded the best efforts of all good citizens; that the safety of the republic, enforcement of law and reservation of the constitution, constituted the first and paramount duty of all people, irrespective of political affiliation.

The members of the league were welcomed by Dr. F. R. Barnett representing Governor Brandon and by W. J. Adams on behalf of the chamber of commerce. The first session was featured by the reading of a letter from Richard H. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturers Record, in which he urged a protective tariff.

The dispatching of greetings to Mrs. Roosevelt, President Calvin Coolidge, Vice President Dawes and other party leaders was one of the first considerations of the delegates.

Presentation of a gavel made of Alabama wood by Leonard Werner, and the members of the annual training class of Woodlawn high school called forth tribute to the state by president Gordon, who said that it was fitting that the students should be represented at the meeting.

Independents Plan To Carry Fight To Falkville Next Friday; Have Lost Once

The Y. M. C. A. clan will go into the Falkville district next Friday afternoon intent upon wiping a defeat slate clean which was smeared here earlier in the season when a forward pass in the third quarter sailed out over the heads of the Y backs and spelled a 6-0 victory for the Falkville folks. This defeat did not sit so well on the constitution of the Y folks and they will depart these diggings Friday afternoon intent upon handing Falkville a similar dose on their own grounds.

The battle is looked upon as another hard contest, the Y. M. C. A. having engaged in the stiffest sort of combats throughout the year. Coach Ashwander is not underestimating the strength of the Falkville offense. He started the week's grind for his lads yesterday afternoon against the Albany high advocates in a light scrimmage which meant both aggregations getting down to the Tuesday and Wednesday will see business and in readiness for the Friday tilt.

Falkville will again have the advantage of a superior weight, a good offensive headed by the famed Flivver Ford of Auburn days and the advantage of having defeated the Y once this year. The latter however may prove a disadvantage as the Y lads feel that they are duty bound to administer a defeat to the Ford clan.

All members of the squad look to be in good shape and are spoiling for the Friday battle.

Speaking of the last Friday showing against the Howard Reserve strength, many local people who saw the game were freely praising the defensive ability of the local club. This however did not in anyway serve to alleviate the financial troubles encountered as a result of the game. The management lost heavily in the last game and was appealing today to the

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Mary E. Kendrick vs. Walter Kendrick.
Circuit Court, Morgan County, Alabama. In Equity.

In this cause, it appears to the Register, from the affidavit of complainant, that defendant Walter Kendrick is a non-resident of Alabama, over 21 years of age, and his residence and post office address are unknown, after reasonable effort to learn the same. It is therefore ordered by the Register that publication be made once a week for four consecutive weeks in the Albany-Decatur Daily, a newspaper published in Morgan County, requiring said defendant to plead, answer or demur to the bill in this cause by November 6, 1925, or in thirty days thereafter a decree pro confesso may be taken against him.

What'll You Take for that Old Field? Every farmer in this section probably has an old field grown up in Pine that he considers worthless.

But that is really valuable ground. If it is ten years old you can probably thin it out and get wood and mining props out of it and net a nice little sum of money.

If it is fifteen or twenty years old there is probably both logs and piling

BILIOUSNESS

Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years.

"For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief."

"My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and bad headache, caused from extreme biliousness."

"After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I can recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver.
